Kathryn's breeds are the Labrador Retriever and Brittany, but she love dogs of all shapes and sizes, including the All American Pound Puppy. In fact, one of her smartest dogs ever was just such a dog, a Collie/German Shepherd mix named 'Ravis.' He was the first dog she took to obedience school back in the 1960s. She is truly passionate about dogs and about learning more about how dogs learn, and sharing that knowledge with her students. Kathryn stays up-to-date on training methods and canine learning theories by attending seminars and workshops throughout the West, and is herself a student of one of the top trainers in the state. Through the years she has shown her dogs in conformation, obedience, rally-obedience, and barn hunt.
